|  |    |
|--|----|
| 1 INTRODUCTION   | 1  |
| 1.1 Background and objectives  | 1  |
| 1.2 Management of the North Sea  | 3  |
| 1.3 Natural system of the North Sea                                    | 5  |
| 1.4 Use of North Sea for disposal of wastes                            | 5  |
| 1.5 Legal and institutional context for management of the North Sea    | 8  |
| 2 FOCUS OF THE ABC STUDY   | 10 |
| 2.1 Why cadmium  | 10 |
| 2.2 The ABC study: Questions to be answered                            | 12 |
| 2.3 Organization of the report   | 15 |
| 3 WATER QUALITY MANAGEMENT PLAN FOR THE DUTCH PORTION OF THE NORTH SEA | 17 |
| 3.1 Background and objectives of the WQMP-North Sea study              | 17 |
| 3.2 Characteristics of the analyses                                    | 18 |
| 3.3 Evaluation of ambient water quality                                | 20 |
| 3.4 Conclusions in the WQMP-North Sea with respect to cadmium          | 21 |
| 4 ESTIMATING DISCHARGES UNDER 1980 CONDITIONS                          | 23 |
| 4.1 Introduction   | 23 |
| 4.2 Methodologies for estimating discharges                            | 24 |
| 4.3 Results of estimates   | 29 |
| 4.4 Dutch controlled cadmium sources                                   | 33 |
| 5. ESTIMATING EFFECTS OF DISCHARGES ON AMBIENT WATER QUALITY           | 40 |
| 5.1 Estimating effects on water quality                                | 41 |
| 5.2 Estimating effects on cadmium concentrations in sediments          | 47 |
| 6 ANALYZING INSTITUTIONAL ACTIONS                                      | 52 |
| 6.1 Introduction   | 52 |
| 6.2 International mechanisms for water quality management              | 52 |
| 6.3 National mechanisms  | 57 |
| 6.4 Implementation of international regulations                        | 60 |
| 6.5 Dutch actions and their effects on cadmium inputs                  | 60 |

| 7   | FORMULATING MANAGEMENT STRATEGIES                     | 63  |
| 7.1 | An operational and comprehensive procedure            | 64  |
| 7.2 | Illustration of the procedure                         | 71  |
| 7.3 | Implementation incentives                             | 81  |
| 7.4 | Practical considerations                              | 83  |
| 8   | CONCLUDING COMMENTS                                   | 86  |
| 8.1 | International regulations, their triggers and effects | 86  |
| 8.2 | Relating costs to benefits, internationally           | 87  |
| 8.3 | Implementation and control on national levels         | 89  |
| 8.4 | Specifying the objective                              | 90  |
| 8.5 | Analyzing the aquatic system                          | 91  |
| 8.6 | Nature of the analysis                                | 92  |
| 8.7 | Remaining and further questions                       | 94  |
