APARTMENTS

A boom in the upper brackets 102

High cost, tight money, and government neglect of middle-income housing needs will channel most apartment construction into the luxury market.

Pioneering in the city 104

Lafayette Park in Detroit is the most ambitious effort yet to put high and low apartments with garden living back into the heart of the city.

Design for urbanity 114

A rich supply of innovations in the design and technology of apartments is evolving to serve a new generation of urbanites—a roundup.

Chatham Village revisited 118

Thirty years after its completion, this planned rental community in Pittsburgh is still loaded with neglected secrets for today's apartment builders.

ART OF ARCHITECTURE

A school in the sun 94

In the hot climate of Sarasota, Florida, Architect Paul Rudolph stages a rhythmic dance of concrete baffles and architectural spaces.

Concrete Parthenon 122

Nervi's prize-winning design for the Palace of Labor at Turin, Italy, is a surprisingly classical hall; the runner-up, a catamaran of concrete.

The three levers of Walter Gropius 128

Education, architecture, and criticism—strong enough to move the world.

Jigsaw city 134

The century-old scrimshaw cottages of Oak Bluffs, Massachusetts—a gallery.

TECHNOLOGY

Lower cost for high buildings 140

A radically new system for assembling multistory buildings, proposed by a steel worker, promises substantial savings in time and building costs.

Bicycle-wheel roof 144

Utica's cable-hung roof spans 240 feet, weighs only 14 pounds per square foot.
