

Geotechnical Centrifuge Technology

Edited by

R. N. TAYLOR

Geotechnical Engineering Research Centre
City University
London

BLACKIE ACADEMIC & PROFESSIONAL

An Imprint of Chapman & Hall

London · Glasgow · Weinheim · New York · Tokyo · Melbourne · Madras

Contents

| | |
|---|-----------|
| 1 Geotechnical centrifuges: past, present and future | 1 |
| W.H. CRAIG | |
| 1.1 Historical perspectives | 1 |
| 1.1.1 The germ of an idea and the first experiments (to 1939) | 2 |
| 1.1.2 The post-war generation (1939-73) | 4 |
| 1.1.3 Missionary zeal (1973-85) | 5 |
| 1.1.4 Recognition and the years of production | 6 |
| 1.2 Developments in hardware | 6 |
| 1.2.1 Machine configurations | 9 |
| 1.2.2 Consideration of linear scale | 11 |
| 1.2.3 Loadings other than gravity | 14 |
| 1.3 Where will it end? | 16 |
| References | |
| 2 Centrifuges in modelling: principles and scale effects | 19 |
| R.N. TAYLOR | |
| 2.1 Introduction | 19 |
| 2.2 Scaling laws for quasi-static models | 20 |
| 2.2.1 Linear dimensions | 20 |
| 2.2.2 Consolidation (diffusion) and seepage | 23 |
| 2.3 Scaling laws for dynamic models | 26 |
| 2.4 Scale effects | 27 |
| 2.4.1 Particle size effects | 27 |
| 2.4.2 Rotational acceleration field | 28 |
| 2.4.3 Construction effects | 29 |
| 2.5 Model tests | 30 |
| 2.6 Summary | 33 |
| References | 33 |
| 3 Centrifuge modelling: practical considerations | 34 |
| R. PHILLIPS | |
| 3.1 Introduction | 34 |
| 3.2 Geotechnical centrifuges | 34 |
| 3.3 Containers | 37 |
| 3.4 Test design | 39 |
| 3.5 Model preparation | 42 |
| 3.6 Fluid control | 46 |
| 3.7 Actuation | 47 |
| 3.8 Instrumentation | 51 |
| 3.9 Data acquisition | 55 |
| 3.10 Test conduct | 57 |
| 3.11 Conclusion | 59 |
| References | 59 |

| | | |
|----------|--|------------|
| 4 | Retaining walls and soil-structure interaction | 61 |
| | W. POWRIE | |
| 4.1 | Embedded retaining walls | 61 |
| 4.1.1 | General principles | 61 |
| 4.1.2 | Embedded walls in dry granular material | 62 |
| 4.1.3 | Embedded walls in clay | 66 |
| 4.1.4 | Other construction and excavation techniques | 76 |
| 4.1.5 | Centrifuge tests for specific structures | 78 |
| 4.2 | Gravity and L-shaped retaining walls | 78 |
| 4.2.1 | Background | 78 |
| 4.2.2 | Line loads behind L-shaped walls | 79 |
| 4.2.3 | Cyclic loading of L-shaped walls | 80 |
| 4.3 | Reinforced soil walls, anchored earth and soil nailing | 83 |
| 4.3.1 | Reinforced soil walls | 83 |
| 4.3.2 | Soil nailing | 89 |
| 4.4 | Concluding remarks | 90 |
| | References | 91 |
| 5 | Buried structures and underground excavations | 93 |
| | R.N. TAYLOR | |
| 5.1 | Introduction | 93 |
| 5.2 | Buried pipes and culverts | 94 |
| 5.2.1 | Modelling considerations | 94 |
| 5.2.2 | Projects | 95 |
| 5.3 | Trenches and shafts | 98 |
| 5.3.1 | Modelling considerations | 98 |
| 5.3.2 | Model tests | 101 |
| 5.4 | Tunnels | 103 |
| 5.4.1 | Modelling considerations | 103 |
| 5.4.2 | Tunnels in sand | 105 |
| 5.4.3 | Tunnels in silt | 107 |
| 5.4.4 | Tunnels in clay | 109 |
| 5.5 | Summary | 115 |
| | References | 115 |
| 6 | Foundations | 118 |
| | O. KUSAKABE | |
| 6.1 | Introduction | 118 |
| 6.2 | Shallow foundations | 118 |
| 6.2.1 | Brief review of bearing capacity formulae | 119 |
| 6.2.2 | Shallow foundations on cohesionless soils | 121 |
| 6.2.3 | Shallow foundations on cohesive soils | 139 |
| 6.3 | Pile foundations | 142 |
| 6.3.1 | Axial loading | 142 |
| 6.3.2 | Lateral loading | 148 |
| 6.3.3 | Some modelling considerations | 158 |
| 6.4 | Other foundations: pile foundation systems | 162 |
| 6.4.1 | Piled bridge abutment | 162 |
| 6.4.2 | Pile-raft foundation | 163 |
| 6.5 | Summary | 165 |
| | References | 165 |

| | | |
|----------|---|------------|
| 7 | Dynamics | 168 |
| | R.S. STEEDMAN and X. ZENG | |
| 7.1 | Introduction | 168 |
| 7.2 | Dynamic scaling and distortions in dynamic modelling | 169 |
| 7.3 | Earthquake modelling | 176 |
| | 7.3.1 The role of the centrifuge in earthquake engineering | 176 |
| | 7.3.2 Techniques for achieving earthquake shaking on a centrifuge | 179 |
| | 7.3.3 Model containers to reduce boundary effects | 181 |
| | 7.3.4 Modelling the effects of earthquakes on retaining walls | 186 |
| 7.4 | Blast models | 187 |
| | 7.4.1 Containment | 187 |
| | 7.4.2 Instrumentation | 188 |
| | 7.4.3 Blast modelling of pile foundations | 190 |
| 7.5 | Dynamic modelling | 192 |
| | References | 194 |
| | | |
| 8 | Environmental geomechanics and transport processes | 196 |
| | P.J. CULLIGAN-HENSLEY and C. SAVVIDOU | |
| | Notation | 196 |
| 8.1 | Introduction | 197 |
| 8.2 | Transport mechanisms | 198 |
| | 8.2.1 Mass transport | 199 |
| | 8.2.2 Heat transport | 200 |
| | 8.2.3 Contaminant transport | 201 |
| 8.3 | Fundamentals of modelling | 202 |
| | 8.3.1 Scaling laws | 202 |
| | 8.3.2 Dimensionless groups | 206 |
| | 8.3.3 Validity of scaling | 211 |
| | 8.3.4 Benefits of centrifuge modelling | 214 |
| | 8.3.5 Instrumentation | 215 |
| 8.4 | Modelling contaminant transport | 220 |
| | 8.4.1 Migration from a landfill site | 220 |
| | 8.4.2 Remediation of contaminated land | 222 |
| | 8.4.3 Density-driven flow and hydrodynamic clean-up | 225 |
| | 8.4.4 Contaminant dispersion in uniform soil | 230 |
| | 8.4.5 Physical, non-equilibrium sorption in heterogeneous soil | 234 |
| | 8.4.6 Flow and contaminant transport in the unsaturated zone | 237 |
| | 8.4.7 Multi-phase flow | 240 |
| 8.5 | Modelling heat and mass transport | 243 |
| | 8.5.1 Heat transfer and consolidation | 243 |
| | 8.5.2 Convective heat transfer | 248 |
| | 8.5.3 Heat and pollutant transport | 252 |
| 8.6 | Conclusions | 260 |
| | References | 261 |
| | | |
| 9 | Cold regions' engineering | 264 |
| | C.C. SMITH | |
| 9.1 | Introduction | 264 |
| 9.2 | Scaling laws and cold regions' processes | 264 |
| | 9.2.1 Introduction | 264 |
| | 9.2.2 Scaling laws | 265 |
| | 9.2.3 Freezing processes | 266 |
| | 9.2.4 Thawing processes | 267 |

| | | |
|-------|---|-----|
| 9.2.5 | Mechanical response of frozen soil and ice | 268 |
| 9.2.6 | Summary | 270 |
| 9.3 | Modelling design considerations | 270 |
| 9.3.1 | Introduction | 270 |
| 9.3.2 | Classification of cold regions' tests by heat transfer | 271 |
| 9.3.3 | Temperature ranges | 272 |
| 9.3.4 | Boundary conditions | 272 |
| 9.3.5 | Preparation of frozen soil | 273 |
| 9.3.6 | Modelling of uncoupled processes | 273 |
| 9.3.7 | Modelling of models | 273 |
| 9.4 | Equipment | 274 |
| 9.4.1 | Introduction | 274 |
| 9.4.2 | Cold sources | 274 |
| 9.4.3 | Heat sources | 276 |
| 9.4.4 | Heat and cold transfer to the model | 277 |
| 9.4.5 | Slip-ring specifications | 280 |
| 9.4.6 | Safety | 280 |
| 9.5 | Package design and ancillary equipment | 281 |
| 9.5.1 | Package design | 281 |
| 9.5.2 | Ancillary equipment | 283 |
| 9.6 | Examples of tests and results | 283 |
| 9.6.1 | Introduction | 283 |
| 9.6.2 | Sea ice growth and indentation | 283 |
| 9.6.3 | Thaw settlement of pipelines | 284 |
| 9.6.4 | Pipeline frost heave | 286 |
| 9.6.5 | Creep of artificially frozen ground | 287 |
| 9.7 | Conclusions | 287 |
| | Appendix: Heat transfer to the model surface by conduction, natural convection and radiation | 289 |
| | References | 292 |