

Architectural Design Vol XLV 1/1975

Contents

Cover

Pumping windmill in the sunset photographed by Alain Gerrand.

1 Summaries/French

3 Asian games

James Stirling takes a tongue-in-cheek look at a congress of star architects in Persepolis.

4 Housing Problems Limited: desperate measures in the boardroom

A parable by Martin Pawley, with drawings by Dayvd Widmer.

7 Letters

8 Books

13 Solar buildings in the Pyrenees

Ian Hogan, of Low Impact Design, describes the houses of the Centre Nationale de la Recherche Scientifique at Odeillo, and LID's own design for a school which is being built at Padern.

19 American alternatives

Last summer Alain Gerrand, of Low Impact Design, made a trip round the United States of America. He gives an account of just some of the groups and people that he found interesting.

26 The space between

Walter Menzies explores the space between work and culture and the space between the houses in a residential area. Drawing by Dayvd Widmer.

31 Folly de grandeur

Archie McNab looks at the controversial proposals for the Brighton Marina

33 Making buildings and communities which really live

The Centre for Environmental Structure, founded by Christopher Alexander, is currently involved in a project to control the present deterioration of Spanish tourist areas. The article describes their proposed programme of repair.

38 Housing case study in Brazil II: Vila 31 de Marco, Belo Horizonte.

David Gosling, Professor of Architecture at the University of Sheffield, describes the history and progress of favela Vila 31 de Marco, a self-help community founded on a genuine commune philosophy.

42 Disaster housing: a case study of Managua

Ian Davis has been conducting research sponsored by OXFAM and TEAR FUND into the housing situation in Managua after the earthquake. He reports on the uses of temporary housing directly after the disaster and the development of permanent housing.

49 A changing view of change

Thomas Gilmore continues discussion (begun in AD 9/74) of the book Public planning: the inter-corporate dimension, this time from the viewpoint of a practising US social science researcher who has just joined the AA's Graduate School staff.

51 GLC Housing Competition for the Royal Mint Square.

London's first major housing competition for over a decade commented on by Andrew Rabeneck and James Scott.

55 Planning and transportation.

Planning and conflict. Social planning education RIP? Sheffield Minitram.

59 Housing

Bed & breakfast appendage. Third force in housing.

61 Arts

Christo's spontaneous commentary. Poules de luxe.

62 Round up

Sybaritic swan-song. Furniture. War on waste. Coveted award.

66 Summaries/German