The Editor welcomes short, concise contributions to be published at his discretion. Submissions should be accompanied by black and white photograph wherever possible; they should be of interest to an international readership; and, if announcing an event (or competition), should be forwarded to AD with at least four month's notice. The Editor is particularly concerned that the former AD Calendar columns be re-established, featuring competitions, events, exhibitions and the like, for which generous notice is required both to meet print deadlines and to give interested readers time to prepare.
